Why Choose The American Red Cross

OSHA Compliance

In 1970, Congress passed the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA Act) to ensure safe and healthy conditions for workers. The American Red Cross can provide you with a flexible workplace safety training program that adheres to OSHA's recommendations.

Flexibility

You can tailor OSHA-compliant programs to fit your company's needs, including customizable add-on modules. Our broad selection of training options include:

| | | |
|---|--|--|
| We come to you with instructor-led, hands-on training  | We train your employees and they provide training at your facility  You get the same instructor-led, hands on training at your nearest Red Cross office  | A blend of part online and part in-person, an ideal option for employees with limited time availability  |
|---|--|--|

One-Stop Solution

The Red Cross gives you the efficiency of a true One-Stop Solution. We can help you avoid the administrative headache of dealing with multiple suppliers—and the serious safety risk of uneven program quality. In addition, you can develop long-term workplace safety excellence thru a multi-year, continuum approach utilizing American Red Cross' full suite of programs and services.

Nationwide

A unique benefit of choosing the Red Cross as your health and safety training provider is our national footprint. We provide a streamlined service-delivery system that meets the training needs of large businesses and organizations that require multisite training.

Nationwide benefits include:

- A single point of contact for scheduling training courses nationwide.
- Dedicated account management.
- Consolidated billing.
- Increased efficiency for unparalleled customer service.
- Easy access to certified personnel information, including the certification level and date.

Scientific Advisory Council

The Security of Evidenced-Based Science

Behind every American Red Cross health and safety training program stands a team of experts ensuring what is taught is based on the latest and best in emergency science. Their guidance has an impact on everything, from course content to how to respond when disasters strike. This team's expertise is the reason why businesses choose the Red Cross for their training needs.

The American Red Cross Scientific Advisory Council is a 50+member panel of nationally-recognized medical, scientific, and academic experts dedicated to ensuring that the Red Cross is at the vanguard of best-science and best-practice.

With members from a broad range of professional specialties, the Council has an important advantage: a broad multidisciplinary expertise for evaluating new emergency response methods and techniques. And with on-the-ground experience, its members also bring the know-how for real-world emergencies. Whether it's the best way to administer CPR to an unconscious co-worker or preparing your business for a hurricane, the Council is keeping you current.

CPR

Studying cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR), choking, and general resuscitation, this subcouncil also assesses defibrillation and the best use of Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs).

First Aid

Studying the emergency medical care of victims before they get to a hospital, this subcouncil assesses the training of bystanders and professional emergency responders, whether they are administering aid on land, near water or in the wilderness.

Preparedness and Disaster Health

Covering the best ways to prepare for emergencies of every kind, from those that occur in the home to regional disasters, this subcouncil studies how to train people to be more resilient after hardship and how to keep communities whole and businesses operating. It also addresses how to give acute and chronic medical and mental care to disaster victims and the emergency staff caring for them.

Comprehensive AED Training

What is an AED?

An AED, or automated external defibrillator, is a medical device that analyzes the heart's rhythm. If necessary, it delivers an electrical shock, known as defibrillation, which helps the heart reestablish an effective rhythm. An AED is the only effective treatment for restoring a regular heart rhythm during sudden cardiac arrest and is an easy-to-operate tool for someone with no medical background.

The need for CPR and AEDs is real.

- Sudden cardiac arrest (SCA) takes more American lives than breast cancer, prostate cancer, home fires, firearms, traffic accidents and AIDS combined.
- SCA can happen to anyone, anytime and at any age.

Put a complete, lifesaving AED program in your facility with a Red Cross AED program that includes:

- Free AED demonstrations.
- On-site analysis, placement assistance.
- Flexible purchase options.
- Partnership with four leading AED manufacturers.
- Your choice of make/model.
- AED employee training with free refreshers.
- AED accessories and service.

In addition, the American Red Cross offers AED Management Programs which include:

- Real-time status updates across all unit types/multiple locations.
- Employee certification tracking.
- Software update alerts.
- Direct manufacturer support.

Corporate Preparedness

As a result of responding to more than 70,000 disasters a year, the American Red Cross has developed tools and resources to help you implement a comprehensive, organization-wide safety, preparedness and emergency response plan. We invite you to take advantage of these resources to bring your workplace preparedness program to the next level.

Ready Rating™

Ready Rating can guide your business, organization or school with simple, measurable steps to become better prepared for emergencies. The goal of the program is to minimize losses, enhance productivity and increase trust with employees/communities.

Ready Rating Membership Includes:

- Online, self-paced system.
- Ready Rating Scorecard that provides unique quantification of your organization's preparedness level.
- Ready Rating Next Steps Report that provides recommendations customized to your assessment and ranks needed implementation actions.

Team First Aid Exercises

Is your team prepared to respond at a moment's notice? It's a question every safety manager asks themselves.

The Red Cross is here to help you answer Yes! with Team First Aid Exercises. These in-person, guided scenario-based team practice sessions are designed to refresh and enhance your certified employees' ability to respond to real-life emergency scenarios in an engaging and safe environment.

- Explains employees' roles and the ability to implement a coordinated response. Hands-on practice allows employees to maximize the expertise of the individual in a team environment.
- Builds confidence to respond. Emergency scenarios allow employees to learn by practicing in a safe environment.
- Optimizes the response time and outcomes. This exercise requires employees to focus on a goal where time is of the essence.

First Aid and Preparedness Products

At work, safety is a top priority. Having supplies on hand to help manage emergency situations like a sudden illness, injury or even a natural disaster is important. From bandages and first aid supplies to AEDs, Red Cross first aid and emergency preparedness products are available to help you be ready for the unexpected.

All Red Cross products are compliant with both OSHA and American National Standards Institute (ANSI) standards.

Here are just a few examples from our complete product offering:

The Workplace First Aid Cabinet

This 201-piece kit serves up to 50 people. Register your cabinet and use its SmartTab ezRefill System and we'll guarantee your OSHA compliance. If regulations change, you'll be alerted and receive the necessary products to keep you in compliance.

CPR Keychain

Be ready to perform CPR wherever you go. The CPR breathing barrier has a one-way valve to prevent direct contact with the patient's mouth. There is a CPR visual guide printed on the barrier to indicate correct use and hand-placement.

First Aid and Preparedness Products

Safety Tube

Prepare yourself and your employees for evacuation and rescue with the grab-and-go Safety Tube. Holds a whistle, 12-hour light stick, drinking water pouch, an emergency blanket and more.

CPR/AED Responder Pack

The CPR/AED Responder Pack has what trained first-responders need for a cardiac emergency. Carries clothing shears, CPR face shield; gloves, hand-wipes, hand sanitizer; gauze pads, disposable biohazard bag and much more.

First Aid Kit Plus

Great for home, car or office, this kit holds labeled first aid essentials for cuts, scrapes, burns and other emergencies. It includes everything from bandages and tweezers to a CPR barrier, hydrocortisone, and instruction booklet; even a smaller, removable pouch for an on-the-run custom kit.

Corporate Wellness Programs

The American Red Cross offers several programs designed to enhance your corporate wellness portfolio, including:

Babysitters Training

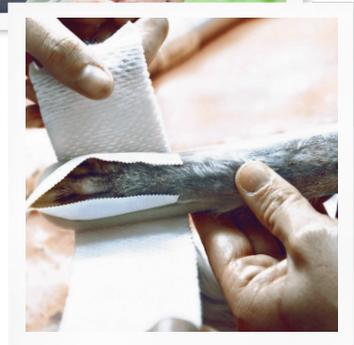

A great offering for your employees' children, this course teaches young people the skills needed to safely and responsibly care for children.

Advanced Child Care Training

Geared for sitters, nannies, au pairs and caregivers 16 and older, this course includes the tools needed to provide the best care to infants and children aged 10 and younger. This course is composed of both online and in-person learning and certificates include Pediatric First Aid/CPR/AED and Advance Child Care.

Pet First Aid

- Learning to provide emergency care for your pets.
- Dog First Aid and Cat First Aid offerings.
- The course includes printed materials to reference at home.
