Disaster Response & Preparedness Training

The American Red Cross mission is to prevent and alleviate human suffering – work that is carried out by local volunteers daily. Most of our disaster response involves home fires but 2020 also brought wildfires throughout much of Northern California -- all during the coronavirus pandemic. We were able to provide no-cost assistance while maintaining social distancing protocols, protecting the health of volunteers and those we serve. While we are always prepared to respond to disasters, we also work to prevent them through free, virtual preparedness education. Knowing what to do when an emergency occurs can save lives. We help families, organizations and corporations become better prepared for crises via programs such as Be Red Cross Ready, the Pillowcase Project and Prepare with Pedro.

Home Fire Campaign

Each year, the American Red Cross responds to an average of more than 60,000 disasters, the vast majority of which are home fires. Home fires take seven lives a day in the U.S., but working smoke alarms can cut the risk of death by half. That's why the Red Cross is installing free smoke alarms and sharing fire safety information through our Home Fire Campaign. Since the campaign launched in 2014, we've helped save more than 820 lives across the country. This critical work is made possible with the support of our partners, who have helped us install more than 2.1 million free smoke alarms in vulnerable homes.
