Clifton Forbis

Internationally acclaimed dramatic tenor Clifton Forbis is renowned for his performances of opera's most demanding repertoire with the world's leading companies. His major roles include Siegmund (Die Walkure), Tristan (Tristan und Isolde), Samson (Samson et Dalila), and Otello, performed with such institutions as the Metropolitan Opera, Teatro alla Scala, Paris Opera, Lyric Opera of Chicago, Vienna Staatsoper, San Francisco Opera, and Dallas Opera.

Forbis has appeared in concerts and recitals throughout the U.S. and Europe, with highlights including Beethoven's Symphony No. 9 with the Chicago and Boston Symphonies, Britten's War Requiem with the Rotterdam Philharmonic, and collaborations with conductors such as James Levine, Daniel Barenboim, Claudio Abbado, and Sir Simon Rattle.

He holds degrees from Belmont University and SMU, and completed postgraduate studies at the Julliard Opera Center, and has studied with many of the world's foremost vocal teachers and coaches.

American

The American Red Cross prevents and alleviates human suffering in the face of emergencies by mobilizing the power of volunteers and the generosity of donors.

Through disaster relief, lifesaving blood services, health and safety training, supporting military families and reconnecting families separated by crisis, the American Red Cross brings help and hope to people in need. Our network of generous donors and volunteers shares a single mission: to serve those facing emergencies. We respond to an average of 65,000 disasters every year, the vast majority are home fires.

Your Donation at Work

The Red Cross of Georgia helps residents prepare for, respond to and recover from emergencies. We provide comfort, care and emergency assistance to families whose lives have been disrupted by disasters, most often home fires.

In fiscal year 2025 (July 1, 2024–June 30, 2025), the Southwest Georgia Chapter assisted approximately 850 people affected by more than 230 disasters, including home fires, floods and storms. We provided nearly $246,000 in financial assistance to help families begin their recovery.

Funds raised will support Humanitarian Services Fleet, used to meet the needs of families and individuals impacted by disasters, including those recovering from home fires, flooding and storms throughout the communities we serve.

We offer multiple sponsorship levels and hope you will consider partnering with us to make a meaningful difference for your neighbors in need.

The Red Cross of Southwest Georgia serves the counties of Baker, Calhoun, Chattahoochee, Clay, Crisp, Decatur, Dougherty, Early, Grady, Lee, Marion, Miller, Mitchell, Muscogee, Quitman, Randolph, Schley, Seminole, Stewart, Sumter, Terrell, Turner, Webster and Worth.
