

Safety Protocols for Meal Distribution Volunteers amid COVID-19

American Red Cross
Los Angeles Region

In alignment with American Red Cross national guidelines, personnel and volunteers will practice social distancing conditions enacted by LA County Department of Public Health and CDC to limit interactions with other workers, clients and the broader community.

Any Red Cross worker may seek mental health support by calling the Disaster Distress line at 1-800-985-5990 or text "TalkWithUs" to 66746, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

What to expect at your work location

- Meal delivery shall be pre-packaged, "Grab-and-Go" style.
- All team members are asked to exercise safe work protocols including hand washing, minimize touching face, exercising social distancing measures and keeping workspaces safely clean and disinfected.
- All team members are asked to not wear or bring face masks and wear Red Cross branded attire or vests (if available) including Red Cross badging.
- Food server gloves, hand sanitizer and antibacterial wipes shall be provided at each Los Angeles Unified meal distribution center.
- Any concerns should be directed to your meal distribution center Red Cross supervisor.
- When assigned, you will be receiving additional details of your work assignment.
- Los Angeles Unified will have thermometers to monitor student and employee health, and everyone will be asked to wash their hands upon arrival.
