This was a year of unprecedented disasters, and because of your support, the Red Cross was able to provide extraordinary support to victims in Hawaii, across the nation, and around the world.

When Hurricane Katrina struck, 220,000 trained Red Cross volunteers (including 34 from Hawaii) assisted 1.2 million families, provided nearly 3.42 million overnight stays in over 1,000 Red Cross shelters, served more than 52 million hot meals and snacks, and provided mental health counseling to over 780,000 people. In Hawaii, we assisted 70 families who fled the Gulf Coast and raised $3 million for hurricane victims.

When the Kaloko Dam burst on Kauai in March 2006, Red Cross disaster responders provided crisis counseling, supported emergency workers, and conducted damage assessments. At the same time, over 300 homes from Lahi to Makiki were impacted by 90 days of heavy rain. We opened 9 shelters where over 100 people sought refuge, provided financial assistance to 111 families whose homes were flooded, and distributed food, water, and hundreds of cleanup kits including mops, brooms, buckets, and bleach to weary victims struggling to mop up the mess and prevent mildew damage to their homes.

Together with every day fires and other disasters, the Hawaii Red Cross responded to 108 disasters this year, reaching 582 families. This assistance included food, clothing, shelter and emotional support or referral. Over 6,300 meals were provided to victims of disasters and emergency workers in the field, and 172 people were provided safe shelter during times of evacuation.

Since 1917, the Hawaii Red Cross has provided critical services to victims of disaster and we are the only local nonprofit organization that responds to disasters any time of the day, 365 days a year. With the threat of avian flu, bio-terrorist attacks, and major natural disaster, the American Red Cross is more relevant and necessary than ever before. And with global warming and changing weather patterns, it is not “if” but “when” a major disaster in Hawaii will occur.

Beyond responding to disaster victims with caring and compassion and helping people prepare for disasters, our mission is to save lives. Every year, we also teach about 36,000 people essential lifesaving skills such as first aid, CPR, and aquatics to enable them to help their own families, friends, co-workers and neighbors during times of emergencies.

Rapid worldwide communication allows the Red Cross to bring military families together during a family crisis. This need was brought to my attention last year, and I was very pleased to see the Red Cross was able to provide extraordinary support to victims.

A MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

Coralie Chun Matayoshi

In 2006, the Red Cross continued to reach people in need through its core humanitarian services:

- Crisis Counseling: Provided emotional support to 88,180 people impacted by disasters.
- Disaster Assistance: Provided $2.7 million in cash and in-kind assistance to 2,565 families.
- Blood Services: Collected 73,000 pints of blood at 47 blood drives.
- Volunteer Programs: Engaged 15,000 volunteers.
- Community Service: Provided over 47,000 hours of volunteer service.
- Corporate Partnerships: Established partnerships with 350 companies.
- Corporate Responsibility: Established the Red Cross National Corporate Council.
- Legislative Advocacy: Engaged in advocacy efforts at the federal, state, and local levels.

This year marked the 100th anniversary of the Red Cross, and we celebrated our history and our commitment to helping those in need.

MISSION

The American Red Cross, a humanitarian organization, is led by volunteers and guided by its Congressional Charter and the Fundamental Principles of the International Red Cross Movement, will provide relief to victims of disaster and help people prepare, prepare for and respond to emergencies.
THE HAWAII RED CROSS

Response Highlights
• Disaster Action Team volunteers responded to 108 disasters, reaching 582 families. This assistance included food, clothing, shelter and emotional support or referral. Over 6,300 meals were provided to victims of disasters and emergency workers in the field, and 172 people were provided safe shelter during times of evacuation.
• 1,236 military families relied on the Red Cross for communications in times of crisis.
• Dedicated and trained volunteers manned First Aid Stations at community events throughout the state and provided direct assistance to 179 persons through their efforts.
• Over 4,550 members of the U.S. Armed Forces and their families were provided with pre-deployment information on how to use Red Cross services to maintain connection with their families during times of crisis and separation.

Preparedness Highlights
• Over 3,300 courses were conducted throughout the islands to reach 27,260 people with the information and skills to protect and save lives through the use of First Aid, CPR, and Automated External Defibrillation.
• Lifesaving aquatics courses were provided to 8,404 persons, teaching them how to protect their lives and the lives of others in and around the water. Many of these course participants practiced sessions were provided to 6,328 people throughout the state.
• The Hawaii Red Cross has over 3,700 volunteers including 16 Red Cross Youth Clubs.

REACHING OUT IN THE COMMUNITY

“I feel deep admiration for the outstanding service you continue to provide when disaster strikes. The American Red Cross has always gone above and beyond the call, assisting those victimized by catastrophic events. Recently, the State of Hawaii experienced extreme weather conditions causing damage and flooding to property owners in low lying areas. I was one of its victims, luckily suffering from only material damage. Always it seems, the American Red Cross and its staff were there to assist those in need of aid and comfort. I want to thank your organization for the help you gave me and the excellent service your staff provided. They were very kind and helpful, demonstrating absolute professionalism in comfort and care... God bless the American Red Cross and the staff”

— Oahu flood victim

“We recently experienced the death of a young, fellow employee... that left the staff devastated and in shock that something like this could happen to such an energetic, wonderful person. I called (American Red Cross Mental Health Lead volunteer) as I usually do when I am in dire need of assistance with situations such as this. He recommended (a Red Cross Mental Health volunteer) to facilitate the debriefing process with the staff... The employees were very receptive... and were able to open up and share their feelings of loss and grief about the death... I would like to let the American Red Cross know how valuable your volunteer is to those he helped and to the community at large in the role he plays as a volunteer with your agency.”

— Family who suffered house fire

“I was at the Command Post overseeing EMS at the recent HAA crash @ BMW on 3/8... The firefighters worked hard to keep the scene safe for everyone. Please pass on my appreciation for the Red Cross van and its workers who showed up with food and refreshments. I couldn’t help but wonder how important it was to keep everyone happy and fed during those emotional times. A special thanks to the Red Cross for all they do, their help was greatly appreciated. We appreciate your help. Thanks for being there.”

— Family who suffered house fire

“It sounded like a Mack ‘truck coming down the hill’...”

— First Aid instructor

“Thank you so much for your help and guidance in our time of need. You were a big help and we appreciate you being the one to help us. My family and I like to thank you and truly we appreciate your help. Thanks for being there.”

“I want to extend my deepest gratitude for the fine services of your staff during and after the fire at our College of Education earlier this month. The outcome was a tremendous loss for our campus but we are all grateful that the event did not result in any serious personal injuries. Everyone on our campus was extremely impressed by the quick response and the expert manner in which the emergency conditions were managed under very hazardous conditions. The professionalism and the dedication of those on the scene were remarkable, and I want you to know that they are much appreciated. Please pass along my thanks to your team for a job well done on behalf of the entire UH Manoa community.”
