

Dr. Toni Williams, Provost and Executive Vice President of Academic Affairs at Martin University

Dr. Toni Williams is the Provost and Executive Vice President of Academic Affairs at Martin University. Prior to working at Martin University, Dr. Williams worked in the education sector for 19 years in Illinois, North Carolina, South Carolina, New Jersey, and Indiana.

A firm believer in the importance of volunteerism, Dr. Williams spent time volunteering in schools with a high population of socioeconomically disadvantaged students, conducting organizational research that focused on bringing awareness to the educational gap of GED and Adult High School Learners as well as volunteering at the local high school and working with more than 100 at-risk high school students in jeopardy of not graduating. In 2018, after witnessing a great need for women to further their education, she put together a women's conference where women openly discussed their journey to spiritual fulfillment, received free medical screenings, met with educational professionals, and were offered scholarships.

Toni holds an Education Doctorate in Leadership and Management from St. Thomas University and enjoys writing and spending time with her three daughters.
